Supporting

Dear Supporters:

We are asking you to consider supporting the 3rd Annual A Night on the Wilkie Way, a community fundraising event for Cuisine for Healing, a non-profit organization founded by the late Wendy Wilkie. Cuisine for Healing is committed to making nutritious, delicious food readily available to people combating disease while providing education about the power of healing food.

A Night on the Wilkie Way will include delicious Cuisine for Healing Certified food, wine, music, live and silent auctions. Attendees will be treated to uplifting entertainment that will tickle funny bones, touch hearts and lighten souls. Information will also be available from select support services for people living with cancer.

Join us for "A Night on the Wilkie Way," a celebration of life, and help support the Cuisine for Healing Outreach Food Program. The Cuisine for Healing Outreach Food Program offers a selection of fresh, healthy meals that are designed to bolster the immune system, clear the body of toxins and help the body heal faster. The Outreach Food Program provides two healthy Cuisine for Healing Certified meals per day, seven days a week at no cost to qualifying patients...delicious, nutritious food their bodies so desperately need. Working with Cancer Care Services, Texas Oncology, Joan Katz Breast Center and all local hospitals, Cuisine for Healing (CFH) is now accepting qualified patients to participate in this Outreach Food Program. The food can be picked up by family, friends or delivered to the client's home by a CFH Volunteer.

The late Wendy Wilkie, our brave friend and founder of Cuisine for Healing, said it best:
"When someone is fighting a life-threatening disease, nutrition is vital to their survival and quality of life. Their tastes change, their appetites and energy are greatly diminished, and they are too tired to shop and prepare their own food. Healthy, ready-made food needs to be available to meet these needs!"

Thank you for your interest and support,
Tami Morrison, Chairperson
